

A vintage globe on a wooden stand, a stack of three old books, and a red apple on a wooden desk. The globe is positioned on the left side of the desk, showing the Americas. The books are stacked in the center, and a single red apple sits on top of the top book. The desk is made of dark wood with a light-colored, distressed wooden drawer front featuring a metal handle.

Using this Planner:

Throughout this pdf planner you will see form fields where you can type in your planning information for your school year - so have fun adding and editing. While you can't change the main forms, you can edit subject areas and then save your file to your computer with your edits intact. Save your planner on your computer from year to year by using the 'Save as' feature and renaming it. You can also print your planner off double-sided and store in a 3 ring binder. Below you'll see an

In a typical homeschool day, we cover some subjects each day (math, reading, writing, Bible), and others we do once or twice a week (science, geography, art, cooking, etc...). This type of planner helps me visually see where we are spending our time and also keep track of those “extra” things that we do: field trips, computer time, additional books read, etc. I also have plenty of room in the front to plan the year out and at the back of the planner to write notes and
